DETAILED ACTION

1. The indicated allowability of claims 1-10, 14-48 is withdrawn in view of the newly discovered reference(s) to Hawkins et al. Rejections based on the newly cited reference(s) follow.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-10, 13-48 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hawkins et al. (U.S. Patent No. 5,497,317).

As per claim 1, Hawkins et al. teach a security trade settlement device having a data processing system for managing broker transaction comprises a computer processor (col. 4, line 65-col. 5, line 12), a storage mean (24) for storing data on a storage medium, and a communication means (col. 4, lines 34-36) for transmitting and receiving data in a secure environment (security coding system) (col. 9, line 16) to and from various locations (see Figure 1). Hawkins et al. teach a mean for creating trade data concerning about a particular trade in the form of a trade record, a mean for reviewing the trade data, and for approving/disapproving the trade record (col. 6, line 64-col. 8, line 2) and a mean for maintaining security measures (security coding system) for data processing system to prevent unauthorized access and use of the trade data.

Art Unit: 3628

Hawkins et al. do not explicitly mention software in creating trade data concerning about a particular trade in the form of a trade record, reviewing the trade data, and for approving/disapproving the trade record and maintaining security measures for data processing system to prevent unauthorized access and use of the trade data in a numerical order: first, second and third. It is inherent and/or well known to assign software in a numerical order for inventory, tracking purposes and etc.

As per claims 2-5, Hawkins et al. teach a mean for inputting and storing trade data on the storage mean system (24), a mean for monitoring the changes and/or modifications of the trade data and/or trade activities in respective trade records which are created by the computer software means (col. 3, lines 11-19) (col. 4, lines 46-51) (col. 5, lines 39-43). Hawkins et al. teach trading participants (i.e. brokers, custodians, and institutions) (see Figure 1) includes the participants' system terminals. Each of these terminals includes a unique name (IDs, see Figure 2) or acronym identifying it as the transmitter or recipient of messages over the system and each terminal includes application software for maintaining and operating central database (col. 4, lines 45-51). Therefore, it is inherent that Hawkins et al. teach a mean for monitoring log-ins of the participants to the system and a mean for monitoring the activity of brokers i.e. participants who enter trade data through the computer software means.

As per claims 6-10, Hawkins et al. teach a mean to provide periodic reconciliation reports which include e.g. the number of shares of each different security bought, sold and owned by each of the institutions' accounts during the period, the current share price and the share price at each of the transactions. Therefore, it is inherent that

Hawkins et al. teach a mean for outputting information regarding a particular trade, a trade blotter and/or securities blotter, and buy sell tickets regarding securities.

As per claims 13-20, Hawkins et al. have all the features of the invention (as mentioned above). Hawkins et al. also teach a mean to add and/or change delivery instruction sets on the database (col. 3, lines 26-27) (i.e. manipulating trade record electronically), and a mean to input/output (display) via input/out devices (col. 4, line 41-42) amended trade data with the changed element.

As per claims 21-23, the claims contain features addressed in the above claims (1-20), and therefor, are rejected under the same rationale.

As per claims 24-27, Hawkins et al. have all the features of the invention (as mentioned above) and further, Hawkins et al. teach a mean to send and receive e-mail (col. 3, line 30).

As per claims 28-48, the claims contain features addressed in claims 1-27, and therefore, are rejected under the same rationale.

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Beaulieu et al. is cited of general interest.
